

Template

Research methods used/recommended in ageing research, actively involving different categories of users (i.e., older people, informal carers of older people, professionals working with older people etc)

Research method (for example Focus groups)

Description of the method

Short text (one paragraph) describing the method

Advantages when used in ageing research actively involving users

A few bullet points, such as “Group setting may inspire wider input and points of view from the users” etc

Challenges when used in ageing research actively involving users

A few bullet points, such as “Some users may be uncomfortable sharing their views in a group setting” etc

Examples from recent research

In study X the focus group method was used with users Y with the aim of ... etc

References

Core references for the method, references of studies within the field of ageing and health research where it has been used...

[All in all, about one page per method]